If a student has an advisor hold, it will show up in this box. The week before registration begins, students are required to meet with their advisor. Once you and your advisee have met, you will have the responsibility to remove this hold.

Step 1. Click on the negative service indicator, identified by the sign ✗
Click on the <ADV> link

You release this hold by clicking on the <Release> button. The advisor hold is the only hold that you are able to change.
There is another way to release a hold by navigating to Campus Community>Service Indicators (Student)>Manage Service Indicators

You can then enter your advisee’s last name and first name. It will take you to the following page where you would follow the steps outlined on the previous page.